NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

Congressman Omar Burleson, in his newsletter this week, delves into the background of the Democratic Donkey and the Republican Elephant. Since, as he says, we will be seeing and hearing a lot about both of them in the next few months this background information proves interesting.

Also, since this is the time of the year for vacations and this writer is getting lazy, we will just borrow from Mr. Burleson and hope he doesn't mind too much.

In 1951, the Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Congress, with two other members of his Committee, made an exchange visit with the House of Deputies of Uruguay. One primary purpose of our return contact was to make known our awareness and concern that beef imports from their country were out of line with their ability to produce and that the origin of their exports was mainly from the Argentine.

This is beside the point except to explain that three U. S. Congressmen (2 Democrats and 1 Republican) in trying to make a good impression committed a "faux pas," which was almost fatal to our mission. On the morning of our official visit to the Chamber of Deputies — their members called Deputados — we were given a white carnation for our lapel. We thought it nice and pinned it on. Advised by our Ambassador that white identified one political party and a red flower represented the other, we quickly accepted a red carnation and wore both, looking something like a pot plant.

Most countries which have only two or three political parties have some representative insignia. It may be an animal, a fowl or other objects of identification.

Ours, of course, are the Democratic Donkey and the Republican Elephant.

It was in 1870 that Thomas Nast, a political cartoonist, first used the donkey as a Democratic Party symbol.

On January 15, 1870, Harper's Weekly published a Nast cartoon depiciting the donkey in the "Copperhead Press," (anti-war faction) kicking a dead lion which represented Secretary of War, Edward M. Stanton. Writers at the time interpreted Nast's cartoon representing the Democratic Party as one of "noise and obstruction" which he believed it to be.

The donkey was used in connection with Andrew Jackson's campaign for the Presidency. Jackson's proposals to help the people were viewed with alarm by the opposing Party, which labeled him a "Jackass."

Jackson seized upon the opportunity to capitalize on name calling and won a sweeping victory.

The symbol caught on, although some researchers have since said that Nast did not actually portray the donkey as the symbol of the Democratic Party but the anti-war faction within it.

On November 7, 1874, Harper's Weekly published a Nast cartoon using the elephant as representing the Republican Party. The cartoon was titled "The Third Term Panic" and used animals representing various issues and newspapers running away from a donkey wearing a lion skin labeled "Caesarism." The elephant is labeled the "Republican Vote" and is running towards a pitfall under which are planks bearing the words "inflation," "reform," etc.

The donkey was well established as the Democrats' mascot by the time the Garfield-Hancock campaign came along. The New York Daily Graphic published a cartoon showing the Democratic candidate mounted on a donkey and leading a procession of crusaders.

Gradually as the donkey and elephant became the accepted symbols of the Democrats and Republicans, each party gave the other symbol certain traits.

The Democrats usually regard the elephant as bungling, stupid, pompus and conservative. The Republicans think of him as dignified, strong and intelligent.

The Republicans regard the donkey as stubborn, silly and ridiculous. The Democrats think of him as being humble, homely, smart, courageous and loveable.

In the months ahead we will be seeing a lot of both.

15 Units Sign Up For Community Radio Watch

Police Chief Bryan Wasson announced this week that eight more operators of two-way radio equiped vehicles have signed with the Community Radio Watch bringings the total number of units in the organization to 15. He anticipates other businesses and individuals will join in the effort.

Over 600 cities across the nation have this type of program. The organized group, Chief Wasson said, serves as eyes and ears of the Police Department.

The Chief said that the local Radio Watch had already served the community well. Last Saturday night one citizen reported a drunk driver by radio and the Police were able to arrest the driver hastily.

Another citizen reported via radio that a man had gone beserk at a local cafe, resulting in a speedy arrest.

Anyone interested in joining should contact Chief Wasson.

— STARTED WITH A CALF NAMED FRANK —

Bob Clifton Seeks Top State FFA Post

By Mrs. Bob Craig

A Black Angus calf named Frank was the beginning of full and rewarding participation in Future Farmers of America for Bob Clifton who will leave next week for Lubbock seeking the highest state office, that of president of the Texas Future Farmers of America.

BOB CLIFTON

As a freshman vocational agriculture student, Bob chose the calf as a project. But after stubborn encounters with Frank, Bob chose to go to registered whiteface Herefords, for the balance of his show animals.

Throughout his high school years, all show calves were affectionately named. They were Guy and Gary, named for his twin brothers, Horns, Torro, Leon, Slow and Easy, and Shorty. It was always with reluctance that Bob sold his prize animals at the close of the showing season. When the time came to sell Guy and Gary, he said unhappily, "This is almost like selling your little brothers."

At the close of his senior year he could not sell his prize heifer, Shorty, so she is being kept in a spot close to town and is receiving the same loving care as any favorite pet.

Beginning his supervised farming program under advisors, T. C. Blankinship and Milburn Wink, Bob had three steers and five heifers. He now has 64 head of cattle, some registered.

In 1966, Bob and a friend, George Bonds, poolled their common interest in raising beef cattle and began a joint operation.

Stockmen will remember the dry months of that year when there was not enough rainfall to provide good grazing. Bob and George will remember it even longer. When it became apparent that there was no grazing to be found in the immediate area, they looked elsewhere. At Goldthwaite they were able to lease 1400 acres and they trucked 475 head down there. Some of the cattle later had to be sold at a loss when 500 acres of the leased grassland burned.

The full impact of their troubles hit when they figured up their income tax and discovered the total income for the year was 38 cents, or 19 cents each.

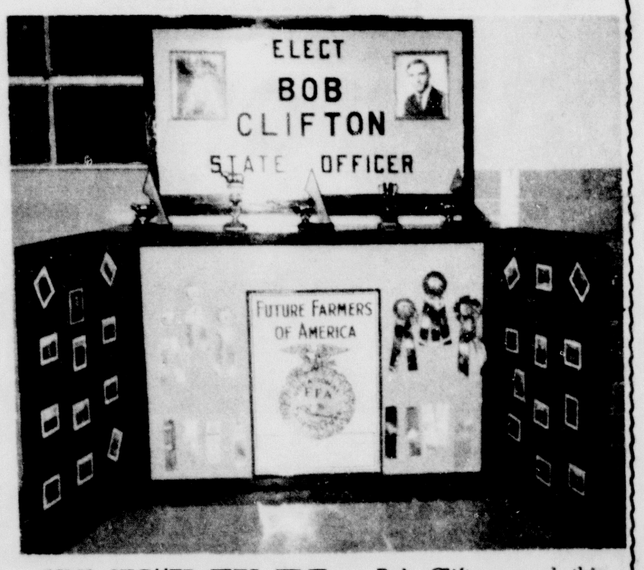

At the present time George and Bob are grazing close to 400 head in their mixed herd on the acreage 25 miles southwest of Goldthwaite and another herd on leased acreage here.

The boys were assisted by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clifton and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bonds in working cattle at Goldthwaite five weeks ago. Guy and Advisor Wink also made the two-day trip.

The demanding schedule of feeding, doctoring, immunizing and working the cattle has not been without reward. The regularity of daily 6 a.m. and evening feeding times and calving sometimes at late night hours have been contributing factors in Bob's success and subsequent honors in FFA and numerous shows.

The Cliftons feel through FFA Bob's abounding energies were channeled in a constructive direction. Not only were lessons in finance and management learned through experience, but he also learned

AIMS HIGHER THIS TIME — Bob Clifton used this booth when elected state officer for Area II, Future Farmers of America. He now will aim higher and change the caption to "Elect Bob Clifton State President" for the campaign at Lubbock July 17-19. The 40th annual State FFA Convention is being held at the Coliseum Auditorium.

ROLLING PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

The preliminary report of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on acreage, yield and production of cotton shows 411,855 bales (500 pounds gross) produced in 1967 by the 32 Rolling Plains counties served by Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., 14.9 percent of the State's 2,767,000 bale total.

The TCLRS report for 1967 revealed an average yield per harvester acre for the Rolling Plains counties of 289.7 pounds as compared to the 1966 average yield of 311.4 pounds and a 1961-65 average of about 255 pounds.

The State average yield was 376 pounds in 1967, compared to 385 in 1966 and the previous five-year average of 362 pounds. Both the Rolling Plains and the State set record per-acre yields in 1965.

The 1966 and 1967 crops of cotton in Texas were far below the 1961-65 average of about 500,000 bales on the Plains and 4.5 million for the whole State. Responsible for the drastic drop was greatly reduced acreage under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, which became effective with the 1966 crop, and highly adverse weather conditions.

Weather in 1967 cost farmers 84,520 acres on the Rolling Plains, 11 per cent of the 766,860 acres originally planted, according to the report, leaving only 682,340 acres for harvest. In addition, weather severely reduced yields on that acreage not totally destroyed in many areas.

Again this year the Rolling Plains, as well as many other areas of the State, will record a high level of abandonment. Best estimates as of this writing set losses to hail, heavy rains and high winds at around 50,000 acres in the 32 RPCG counties.

Producers this year signed up to plant about 850,000 acres of cotton. But normal underplanting would reduce actual acreage to about 800,000. So if 50,000 acres have been taken out by weather something like 750,000 acres are left standing, some 67,000 more acres than were harvested last year.

Although much of this year's crop is late there is still reason to hope for per-acre yields well above the 289.7 pounds recorded last year. Moisture conditions are better over the area than at any time in many years, and the relaxed skip-row planting regulations for 1968 should also serve to boost yields in some sections.

Assuming that current acreage is maintained until harvest and that yields are normal, production this year could come to about 535,000 bales.

Nitrogen Sidedress To Young Cotton May Show Gain

A sidedress of 25-30 pounds of nitrogen on young cotton just about squaring time may result in increase yields this year, says County Agent Kirby Clayton. The added nitrogen, says Clayton, helps the young cotton plant just in the beginning of the stress period and should result in an economic return during years of ample moisture conditions.

Clayton cautions farmers who try fertilizer to try it on a small acreage until its value has been proven on his particular farm. If in doubt about the amount and ratio, have a soil test and make applications accordingly. Fertilizer cartons and soil test application blanks are available at the countys agent's office.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Impractical Jokes

Good-natured John, proprietor of a grocery store, kept a can of free tobacco on the counter. One day, just for kicks, he sprinkled a little gunpowder into the tobacco.

Sure enough, the first customer to use the mixture set off an explosion in his pipe. Result: injury to the customer's eyes and a successful damage suit against John.

It is well worth remembering, when you feel playful, that "I was only joking" is seldom a good defense in a court of law.

"One who plays dangerous practical jokes on others," observed one court, "takes the risk that his victims may not appreciate the humor."

Of course, if there is no reason to foresee harm, you are on safer ground. Thus, a prankster who wore an outlandish costume was held not responsible for the fright which his appearance caused in the woman next door.

But add enough cruelty or recklessness to your sense of humor and you may have to pay for costly consequences. For example, courts have imposed liability on:

1) a joker who gave a hot foot to a man too drunk to realize that he was suffering a third degree burn;

2) a grocer who packed a dead rat into a bundle of groceries;

3) a wag who informed a woman, falsely but convincingly, that her husband had had both legs broken in a smashup;

4) a card player who, while bending down for some money, flipped a fellow player backwards out of his chair.

In fact, in addition to liability for damages, you might even face criminal charges.

A man had an old revolver containing a jammed cartridge. Confident that the gun wouldn't shoot, he playfully brandished it at a visitor and pulled the trigger. To his horror, the gun fired a shot that killed the visitor.

Booked on a manslaughter charge, he pleaded that it was a pure accident—"all in fun." But the court found him guilty.

"Human life," said the court grimly, "is not to be sported with."

Bob has received encouragement and help from his family in his undertakings. His grandfather, O. C. Clifton Sr., is always ready to go with him to care for the cattle. Mr. Clifton farmed and ran stock near Eula before moving here several years ago.

Bob's father, president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, has helped build pens, sheds, feed bins and a water system on the four acres Bob owns just at the edge of town on the east side of the Aspermont highway. An unusual circumstance is that Clifton was not in the cattle business when Bob started. He helps with his son's endeavor but does not plan to own cattle.

Mrs. Clifton not only helps when needed as an extra hand when work is to be done, but also helps in keeping up with pictures and trophies. In making preparations for Bob's successful bid for Area II officer, her husband designed and constructed a display booth and she helped with the lettering and placing of the pictures, ribbons, trophies and insignia.

Gov who will be a freshmen this fall, is following his brother's interest in cattle and is already owner of a Black Angus calf. The boys help each other with the necessary work.

In addition to serving in various FFA offices in the local chapter, Bob was active in football, track, golf, and was high school Golden Gloves featherweight champion in Abilene when a sophomore. He was sophomore class president and class favorite.

He and his brother, Gary, entered the local partnership golf tournament this year and won second in their flight.

If elected to the presidency, Bob will not enter Texas Tech in the fall. The president's time is filled with speaking engagements, conventions, visits to local chapters and many other appearances. The president is provided with a car and an expense account.

Should one of the other nine area officers be chosen for the top office, Bob's position as Area II officer and his first year studies at Tech will fill a busy schedule.

Neinda Philosopher Says 48-Minute Coffee Breaks May Produce Lots of Peace Workers

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One reflects on a sidelight of the Paris Peace Conference this week.

Dear editar:

I was out here yesterday morning studying about doing some farm work and wondering why it is people are always hijacking airplanes but nobody ever hijacks a tractor when a newspaper started blowing along the ground toward me and I watched it hoping it'd get near enough so I wouldn't have to get up and luck was with me and it fell right in my lap right side up, so I started reading. The tractor probably wouldn't have started anyway, maybe it will tomorrow, although I've never believed in putting off till tomorrow what you can put off till the day after that, and I'm not prejudiced against next week.

A heading caught my attention: PARIS PEACE TALKS MAKING PROGRESS.

It's about time, I said, and read that while nothing definite has been agreed upon and North Viet Nam was still saying the way to end the war is for us and South Viet Nam to surrender, still an atmosphere of cordiality is believed developing because the representatives are now taking longer coffee breaks together.

"Today's coffee break lasted 48 minutes," the report said, adding that this is interpreted as a good sign.

This is a new wrinkle in international diplomacy and it may have worldwide reverberations. I can see office workers in a thousand cities now, including maybe Hamlin, stretching their coffee breaks out to 48 minutes and claiming their doing it in the interest of international peace. With two of these breaks a day, you can see what a strong effort this will be toward settlement of international conflicts. There may be more peace workers in this world than anybody ever dreamed of.

Of course it may cause business to go broke but you can't have everything.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

11 of 21 Wheat Test Plots Show Fertilizer Gains

Eleven out of twenty-one wheat fertilizer demonstration test plots showed an economic return during the 1967-68 season, says Jones County Agent Kirby Clayton. Greatest returns were reflected on the Weldon Carlton farm near Hamlin where fifty pounds of nitrogen was applied to land which had previously been in government soil bank. The fertilized plot yielded 33 bushels per acre against 10.5 bushels for the non-fertilized. Several other plots over the county showed from $1.00 to $20.00 increases in profits from the use of fertilizer.

However, ten of the test plots showed an economic loss ranging from $1.00 to $21.00, says Clayton. Some of the test plots had hail damage estimated at 60% and it was difficult to get a true yield.

All of the fertilizer test results are available in the county agent's office and will be printed in the Jones County Result Demonstration Handbook which will be available to farmers later in the fall.

Visiting with Alford Hastings in St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hastings, and his brothers and families, Mr. and Mrs. Ester Hastings and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hastings. Mr. Hastings had brain surgery Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willingham, Stephanie, Julie and Laurie of Waco visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tarlton Willingham.

"Whatsoever Things"

By DONALD E. WILDMON

In July of 1963 Willian Henry Nelson, a Negro who claimed that America "never did anything for me," stole an $18,000 shrimp boat and defected to Cuba. Nelson became so fed up with life in America that he decided life on Fidel Castro's sugar cane island would be better.

Sheriff Beace A. Thompson of Key West, Florida, said that Nelson took the 48-foot shrimp trawler "Euna Mae" from its dock in Key West on July 26, 1963 and sailed it to the shores of Cuba where he wrecked it on a reef. Nelson was rescued by Cuban seamen and taken to Havana.

Well, sir, the other day Nelson and a couple of buddies were picked up by the Coast Guard while floating on an innertube and canvas raft off Cay Sal in the Keys. When questioned why he decided to return to this land that never did anything for him, Nelson replied that "Cuba didn't do anything for me either."

Well, I have some news for Nelson and all others who share his attitude. He, nor any like him, are ever going to be happy unless some changes are made. And the reason is obvious—they are going at life in the wrong way! Anytime one thinks that the world owes them a living they are in for some sad disappointments. What Nelson is going to have to learn, and anyone else who shares his attitude, is that the trouble isn't in the country but in themselves.

You see, the right attitude would cause us to see what we could do for our country, and our fellowman, instead of seeing what the country can do for us. And this is the point where the Galilean Fisher of men comes in. He rids us of our selfish attitude. He makes us not aware of what we can get from society but of what we can give It is in giving that we become partners with the Giver of Life.

How was it that John F. Kennedy, stated it? "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country.' You see, our country is exactly what we make it--all of us. And it's this way with life, also. Life is what we make it. There is indeed a lot wrong with our country, but sometimes the trouble isn't with our country but with us.

Nelson got fed-up with the United States because it didn't do anything for him. So he tried communism. He became so disgusted with communism that he risked his life to return to this country. Unless Nelson has changed his attitude he might as well keep sailing because things are not going to be any better.

William Henry Nelson had the wrong attitude. Many of us do, also. That's the reason the only hope for our country—and us—lies with the Carpenter. He can change us and our attitude. And if we aren't going to try His way, we, too, might as well keep sailing.—

FIVE STAR FEATURES

NET

One of the definitions for a net is a trap or a snare. A net is used to catch a fish. There are times in every man's life when, like Job, he feels that God has trapped him in a net. Job 19:6 reads, "Know now that God hath overthrown me, and hath compassed me with his net."

But our troubles and afflictions are never caused by our God. Moreover, His Word says He is ever faithfut to deliver His people. The Psalmist asserts: "Mine eyes are ever toward the Lord; for he shall pluck my feet out of the net."

How wonderful are His promises. These promises are proclaimed from the pulpit by your pastor each week for the blessing and edifying of God's people. Won't you attend church this week and partake of this blessing?

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Card of Thanks A-1

CARD OF THANKS

Only God in heaven knows how very much we appreciate each of our friends for being so thoughtful in our hour of need. We want to thank each one for the cards, gifts, flowers, food, each kind expression of sympathy and most of all for your prayers — which we feel were answered in so many ways. May we draw strength, courage, and a greater love for God from the passing of our loved one. God bless you. The family of Marsha Bailey

Larry McCraw Named Stamford Gas Co. Manager

Larry W. McCraw, former manager of Lone Star Gas Company's Hamlin Distribution Office, has been named manager of the utility's Stamford Distribution Office, according to W. M. Braymer, Abilene regional manager.

In his new position, McCraw will oversee natural gas distribution in Stamford and the nearby town of Lueders. He began his career with Lone Star in 1956 and was promoted to shop clerk in the district's engineering section that same year. He held various positions in the engineering section until 1966 when he was named Abilene district clerk. In 1967 he became manager of the natural gas company's Hamlin Distribution Office.

McCraw and his wife, Idanel, are parents of two children, Lori Kay, 6, and Stephen Russell, 4. The family attends the Baptist church.

Agent Says Still Time for Early Season Control

Jones County Cotton farmers who want to cash in on the benefits of the early season cotton insect control program still have time if you will make application right away, says County Agent Kirby Clayton.

Applications made too late in the period may result in bollworm problems later, says the agent. Clayton says that he doesn't recommend automatic insecticide application on all farms but where weevils, fleahoppers and thrips are in the field, one to two applications for early season control should pay a good return based on the past several years of test work done in the county.

For further information on cotton insect control, contact your county agent's office.

STATE Capital NEWS By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — When the special session of the 60th Legislature called it quits and went home, its accomplishments seemed scant — from a cold statistical point of view.

During the 30 days of the session called by Gov. Connally, the 150 House members introduced 32 bills, and 31 senators kicked in 30.

When all was said and done, only five House bills and no Senate bills were passed.

However, two of those House bills were the reasons Connally called the session in the first place. So their passage within the allotted 30 days gave an appearance of success to the session.

One, of course was the bill making state appropriations for the fisical year beginning September 1, and the other was the tax bill to raise the money to pay for all these appropriations.

Texas taxpayers will start feeling the bite October 1 when the one-cent increase in the state sales tax, the one-cent increase in the motor vehicle sales tax and the 50-cent per-$1,000 increase in the franchise tax go into effect.

Rep. Frank Lombardino of San Antonio sponsored the only other new law of interest to the average citizen. It prohibits the carrying of pistols or other concealable weapons into alcoholic-beverage establishments.

The two remaining pieces of legislation were concerned with the internal affairs of state government — transferring $3,000,000 from the Operators' and Chauffeurs' License Fund to the General Revenue Fund and authorizing the Comptroller to transfer funds between items of his appropriation made by the 1967 Legislature.

Only other thing of substance that the two houses agreed on was creation of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Physical Fitness. This was done by resolution.

Each house did create interim committees to study certain problems and report back to the next Legislature.

Senate set up a committee "to study the problem of locating and securing more land which could be set aside for parks and recreational purposes, the better utilization of existing parks and development of existing parks and accomodate more visitors."

House created interim committees to study the Texas Election Code, the financial relationship between permittees and licensees under the Liquor Control Act and the need for laws on organ transplantation.

Also, the lower chamber set up a Natural Fiber Study Committee and a Family Lay Study Committee and asked the University of Texas Graduate School of Business to study the possible creation of a Texas Stock Exchange.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court ruled that a water district — failed to be created by the voters in its original district — could not change its boundaries to include only those areas which approved it in that election. Court also said that the district's directors could not force the counties within its proposed area to pay its organizational costs.

In another case, High Court agreed that St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company of Texas should not be required to maintain its Texas general office and machine shops in Tyler.

Court agreed to hear October 2 appeals of two Dallas savings and loan associations which are seeking the same location for branch offices.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES RISING — State Insurance Board experts have recommended an increase of about 2.8 per cent in auto insurance premiums.

Although statewide averages are misleading since rates are set by 40 different territories, liability coverage appears to be going up on 33 zones for most drivers. Young drivers face higher rates in 22 territories, lower in seven and the same in 11.

Biggest increase will be for comprehensive and collision policies where the insurance board staff has recommended a hike of 7.7 per cent and 7.1 per cent respectively. Insurance company spokesmen claim rising cost of parts and repairs has offset a better traffic accident record.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — City firemen granted leave for military services are, on return, entitled to credit for pay purposes, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions Martin concluded that:

State agencies can contract for professional services of attorneys providing they first obtain the written approval of the attorney general on rate and selection.

Justices of the Peace may issue certified copies of birth and death certificates, but fees collected should go to county treasury.

University of Texas Board of Regents has authority to contract with Central Energy Corporation for heating-cooling services at UT Medical School in San Antonio.

Court reporters are entitled to compensation, subject to limitations, for taking depositions from indigent defendants in criminal cases.

Firemen's Relief and Retirement Fund trustee may permit fund investigations in the name of a bank's nominee, and has authority to use trust fund income to pay costs of administering investments of the trust.

CITY SALES TAX UP — Cities are finding the new local option sales tax a better money-maker than they figured when more than 270 voted it into effect during the last few months.

Collections for the first quarter of 1968, generally the worst business period every year, ran about twice what was expected. Here's the way it turned out for the 14 cities which pioneered the sales tax:

Aransas Pass, $15,746; Austin, $641,003; Bracketville, $994; Corpus Christi, $544,765; Elgin, $4,867; El Paso, $709,686; Henrietta, $4,756; Ingleside, $2,688; Nacogdoches, $58,835; Orange Grove, $1,318; Port Aransas, $2,107; Taylor, $17,116; Texarkana, $101,765; and Wichita Falls, $236,235.

SHIP CHANNEL CHANGE PROPOSED — A $21,000,000 program for altering ship channels in the Corpus Christi Bay area has been placed before Governor Connally for approval by the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Federal funds would pay for all but $1,600,000.

Engineers proposed to deepen the 40-foot channels another five feet and widen them from 300 to 400 feet. Project would get its name changed from the Arkansas-Corpus Christi Waterways to Corpus Christi Channel.

New channels would accomodate loaded vessels up to 59,000 deadweight tons, with annual benefits estimated at $4,600,000.

SALES-TAX SCHEDULE —When the new increase in the state sales tax goes into effect on October 1, shoppers in cities which have adopted the city sales tax will began paying the first of the four pennies when they spend their first 13 cents.

Tax applicable to city-sales tax-covered sales: From 1c to 12c, no tax; 13c to 37c one penny; 38c to 62c, two pennies; 63c to 86c, three pennies; and 88c to 1.12, four pennies.

Shoppers in areas where there is no city sales tax are facing this schedule: 1c to 16c, no tax; 17c to 49c, one penny; 50c to 83c, two pennies; and 84c to $1.16, three pennies.

However, the Legislature did kick in a few more exceptions. One exempts sales through a coin-operated vending machine when each sale is for 16 cents or less, and another will exempt shipping charges when they are figured separately from the price of the commodities.

A third will exempt machinery used exclusively on farms or ranches in the building or maintaining of roads and water facilities, and exempted from the new third state penny will be sales resulting from a written contract entered into before October 1, and sales for which bids were submitted prior to October 1.

APPOINTMENTS INVALIDATED — By its inaction, the Texas Legislature invalidated the following appointments that had been made by Governor Connally:

J. C. Looney of Edinburg to the Public Safety Commission; Drs. Charles T. Shropshire of Dallas and Daniel J. Geller of El Paso to the State Board of Examiners in Optometry; and the Rev. S. M. Wright of Dallas to the Trinity River Authority.

U. I. L. INVESTIGATNON — A proposed study of the University Interscholastic League — which organizes inter-school competition among Texas high schools — failed to be approved by the Legislature.

Reps. James Cole of Greenville and Burke Musgrove of Breckenridge asked for the study to determine the league's organization, control, financing and relationship with the state.

Question arose when the UIL declared "professional athletes" any boy who had signed a letter of intent to accept a college athletic scholarship. This ruling would prohibit other boys still in high-school sports from participating in summer baseball programs — such as the American Legion program — with these "professionals."

Although the Legislature did not act this time the question could be brought up in January. UIL apparently is quasi-governmental, since it is a part of the University of Texas system. However, the Legislature has never created or even recognized it.

SHORT SNORTS — Just prior to adjournment, the Senate elected Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur president pro tempore — third in line of succession to the governorship, behind the governor and lieutenant governor — Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers has named as his state campaign chairman Will Wilson, former Democratic attorney general and Supreme Court justice — Revenue from smoking dropped off sharply last month from June, 1967 — $11,200,000 to $10,400,000, according to State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert — Governor Connally has asked President Johnson to declare Collingsworth County and Refugio County major disaster areas due to floods.

David A. Evans of Texas City, Texas, was elected President of Lions International at the Association's 51st Annual Convention in Dallas, Texas, June 26th - 29th. Lions International, with 867,000 members in 143 countries and geographical areas, is the world's largest service club organization.

Lions International is best known for its aid to the blind, sight conservation activities, youth programs, and its many community service projects.

Jones County Residents Receive $233,294 In Feb. Benefit Checks

The 13% increase in Social Security monthly benefits that was effective for February 1968 brought the total for the fifteen county Abilene district to a record high of $2,970,094 paid to the 40,524 beneficiaries for that month, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager.

Jones county accounted for 3225 persons and $233,294. Of that total, 1687 were retirees, paid $140,268; their wives and dependent husbands, $22,768; 268 disabled persons and their dependents, $19,580; 302 children of retired or deceased parents, $18,049; and 448 widows, dependent widowers, dependent parents, and younger widows with entitled child(ren) in their care, $32,629.

The slightly more than 24 million beneficaries in the nation topped the $2 billion mark in monthly benefits for the first time.

"Although about 2-3 of those receiving social security checks are past age 62," Tuley stated, "most of the changes made by the 1967 amendments were of greater value to the younger people."

He cited the reduction in credits needed for disability benefits for those disabled before age 31 (as low as 1½ years of social security coverage if disabled before age 24), and the change that benefits children of deceased, disabled, or retired mothers by no longer requiring 1½ years of coverage during the three years just before death, disability, or retirement.

Representatives of the Abilene district office visit Jones county regularly, on the schedule posted in all post offices hereabouts. Tuley suggests that anyone who believes the 1967 amendments might have made him eligible for benefits should see the social security representative on his next visit.

Oak Grove Baptist Members Attend Albany Services

Some 35 to 40 members of Oak Grove Baptist Church were invited to worship at the Macedonia Baptist Church in Albany Sunday afternoon. The choir and other members attended the service.

The Oak Grove Baptist pastor, Rev. B. C. Freeman, who lives in Albany, delivered the message. Following the service the Hamlin group went to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Freeman for a dinner on the lawn.

The Hamlin members expressed appreciation for the thoughtful gesture on the part of Rev. and Mrs. Freeman for their hospitality.
